As a result of the ongoing reforms in our independent country, worthy achievements are being made in all spheres of our society. Ensuring a peaceful, peaceful and prosperous life for the people is at the heart of these efforts. Peace begins with the family and the neighborhood. In this regard, in every residential area of the country is held awareness-raising events with the participation of law enforcement officers, district supervisors, community activists, representatives of public organizations.

Keywords: Freedom and liberty, self-ownership of hard-earned wealth, the motherland, peace and tranquility, independence

Naturally, where a person is born, this is a precious homeland for him. The place where the umbilical cord blood was shed is the most precious place for a human being that cannot be exchanged for anything. The Messenger of Allaah (peace and blessings of Allaah be upon him) turned his back on Abu Bakr Siddiq as he was migrating to Madinah.

He said, "If my people had not forced me to leave Mecca, I would never have left it voluntarily."

So, to love one's homeland, to miss it is a delicate feeling inherent in human nature. It is not uncommon for a person who has left his homeland for some reason to go to other lands, to miss and imagine him in his most difficult moments, and to be saddened when he hears sad news about the land where he was born and grew up. Is a sign of love?

History has shown that when a nation seeks to humiliate or trample on another nation, it must first invade, destroy, or expel it. There is no greater humiliation and suffering for a nation that sees its homeland in the hands of enemies. After all, the concepts of homeland, nation, and religion are dearer and more sacred to man than anything else. That is why the teachings of our religion and the concern for the protection of the motherland and the well-being of the nation are widely covered in the hadiths of the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him).

It is inhumane to flee the country to save one's life in the face of adversity. There is a saying among our people, "Be a beggar in your own country until you become a king in another country." He who forgets others for the sake of his own well-being can never be loyal to his motherland and his people.

In Islam, the concept of homeland is broad, primarily used in the sense of dwelling that is, housing. Islamic teachings state that one of the greatest deeds is to protect one's homeland, one's religion, and one's family. Being in the military for the defense of the homeland is also a great blessing in our religion. The Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "One night and one day is better than a month of supererogatory fasting and one-night prayer." (Reported by Muslim).

One of the scholars said, "Everyone knows that there are four things in the world of life that a person loves, values, and values. Those who do not have these four things will be deprived of human dignity. They are: freedom and liberty, self-ownership of hard-earned wealth, the motherland of birth and upbringing, and the sacred religion that has been cherished for centuries."

Judges say, "A man's loyalty is measured by his concern for his country, his longing for his brothers, and his remorse for the wasted moments of his life." Man's devotion and devotion to his people should motivate him to defend his homeland, to develop, to be strong and powerful in all respects, and to contribute as much as possible to the peaceful and prosperous life of his people.

The rapid and preventive measures taken to combat religious extremism and its manifestations, to ensure the safety of citizens in order to protect the country from various malicious currents and evil forces have yielded significant results.

From the first days of independence, our country has focused on young people who are the owners of our future. The large-scale work carried out in our country plays an important role in educating the future owners in the spirit of devotion to the Motherland and the ideas of national independence.

During this period, a great deal of attention was paid to the personnel of the Armed Forces, which is an important part of strengthening law and order in our country, and a lot of work has been done to achieve the lofty goal.

Our guards are responsible for ensuring the peace and tranquility of our dear Motherland, and at the same time, we are committed to doing good deeds. They have enough qualities such as perseverance, courage and bravery for this.

After all, when a son is born in every family, not only the parents, but also the motherland rejoices and rejoice. Because a boy is a boy who protects not only his parents and family, but also his whole nation and homeland. The services of servicemen in maintaining peace and stability in our country, in protecting the territory of our country are invaluable.

We would like to pay tribute to the hard work of the guardians of the motherland, who sacrificed their lives for the sake of peace, tranquility, tranquility, pleasure and, if necessary, peace and tranquility of our Motherland.

Patriotism is a concept that expresses people's love and devotion to their homeland. Patriotism is one of the universal human feelings, spiritual values that have been polished for centuries, common to all people, nations and peoples.

Historically, patriotism is also a set of emotions that people have developed in the process of social development related to the fate of their homeland, the struggle of peoples for the inviolability and independence of the territory in which they live. This is reflected in the country's pride in its past and present, and in defending its interests. It is not in vain that they say that loving one's country is a matter of faith.
